Nothing Overlooked To Give City Best For The Least Money

Superintendent R. W. Cowart, of the Albany City schools, today completed making out the purchase bills agreed upon by the Albany board of education in connection with equipment for the new Albany high school building and sent them to firms which had successfully bid for the contract of furnishing the home economic and science laboratory departments of the new high school.

The Kewanee Manufacturing Co., of Kewanee, Wis., and the E. H. Sheldon Company, of Muskegon, were the successful bidders out of the four firms that put in bids.

W. J. McIlwain, the salesman for one of the successful firms, stated on leaving for the north this morning that if all city school boards of education "exercised as much zealous care" as has the Albany school board and Superintendent Cowart, in the purchase of school supplies, all city schools would certainly get their money's worth.

Mr. McIlwain said that nothing seemed to have been overlooked by the local officials, in their effort to get the best equipment on the market at the lowest price possible. The bills as approved amounted to $4,983.65, and they contained such items that are used in the science laboratory and in the home economics department.

Final decision as to what to purchase at this time for the new high school was made at a meeting of the Albany board of education held last night with the following members in attendance in addition to Superintendent Cowart: John Patterson, B. L. Malone, J. A. Tidwell and H. B. Beard. J. H. Putnam, the only other member of the board, was unavoidably absent.

MAIL PLANES OFF
ON LONG FLIGHTS

(By Associated Press.)

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., August 21—With one mail plane winging its way from San Francisco to New York, another took off from Hazelhurst field, on Long Island, for the Pacific coast today, in the first of five days tests inaugurated by the government to demonstrate the feasibility of permanent, transcontinental mail service.

The start was made at 11:01 eastern standard time, unofficially clocked.

RENO, Nev., August 21—Pilot Wilson, carrying the first consignment of cross country mail from the Pacific coast landed at the Reno air mail field at 7:46 this morning and four minutes later, Pilot Blanchfield hopped off on the second lap of the course to Elko.

METHODIST WOMEN WILL MEET FRIDAY

The Decatur M. E. Church district, comprising some 50 odd Methodist churches, will have a meeting of its women, who are members of the Missionary Federation, Friday afternoon at the First Methodist church of Decatur, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. C. W. Black, Missionary Secretary of the Federation, will assist in the meeting and it will be presided over by its president, Mrs. R. H. Thompson, of Trinity. The meeting Friday is one of the four held each year, and its immediate object is to place a woman's missionary society in every Methodist church in the Decatur district. Only 14 such societies now exist, when about 50 are due to be organized. Among the speakers expected at the meeting are Mrs. J. N. Riddle of Hartselle and Mrs. F. G. Hartzler of Athens.

Polite To Victims Of Train Hold-up As He Directs Looting Of The Passengers' Pockets

(By Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 21—Four men, under the leadership of Samuel G. Blythe, a well known political writer, and discussed current questions of the day, held up Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 125, southbound, near Okesa, Okla., early today, and robbed express and mail cars, the value of which has not been estimated.

The four men who did the actual work of rifling the cars were apparently far greener hands than the cool veteran who directed them. The leader cautioned his men against unnecessary violence and rebuked one particularly brutal bandit several times for manhandling a victim.

Once he apologized to a member of the train crew who had been struck by the men, explaining it was his first job and he was a little nervous. Throughout the robbery the leader of the band kept up his running conversation, revealing himself, members of the train crew said, as a man well versed in the topics of the day and apparently of good education.

Political Wrangle

MANILA, August 21—Political circles were jarred by a bombshell this morning when Manuel Quezon, who recently resigned from the Philippine senate, because of his differences with the American executive administration, announced he had cabled the Secretary of War that Mayor Rodriguez, of Manila, recently appointed to that post by Governor General Leonard Wood was ex-convict from Bilibid prison.

The Herald issued an extra edition demanding editorially that the Governor General request Mayor Rodriguez' resignation.

Quezon charged that Mayor Rodriguez served one year for procuring the abduction of a woman by a gang of bandits. Rodriguez also was convicted of murder complicity, in connection with the death of an officer of the 129th United States Infantry.

STATE PREPARING
LANCASTER CASE

(By Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 21—The state will soon be ready to proceed with the trial of Sergt. Robert L. Lancaster, formerly member of Company M, Alabama National Guard who with eight other members of the company is charged with murder, growing out of the lynching of William Baird, a union miner, who was taken from the Walker county jail at Jasper, the morning of January 13, 1921, and shot to death a few miles away alongside the road.

The trial is set for August 27 at Hamilton, in Marion county, and Horace C. Wilkinson, special attorney of the state will be ready to proceed with the trial. This will be the third time Sergeant Lancaster will have been placed on trial, mistrials occurring before.

The nine soldiers are being defended by an array of attorneys, including A. H. Carmichael of Tusculum, L. D. Grey of Jasper, E. B. and K. B. Fite of Hamilton, Harwood and McQueen Rice of Tuscaloosa, H. L. Hendley of Tuscaloosa and Fred Jones of Hamilton.

Subpoenas are being served in Tuscaloosa, Birmingham and elsewhere and the indications point to from 50 to 75 men from the three counties, Walker, Jefferson and Tuscaloosa being summoned to the court. Judge Lacey of that circuit will preside at the trial.

MACON, Ga., August 21—With additional offers of rewards announced today for arrests and conviction of the floggers, the reward total is more than $3,100.

Governor Walker has offered $500 for conviction of the leader of the floggin band and additional $100 for each member of the band.

Following the assertion by police and county officials that the three Hutson brothers, arrested Sunday night while in the act of flogging a negro, were being paid by an organization to do the flogging, officials today turned their efforts in an attempt to identify the organization with confidence they would soon be able to solve the mysterious surroundings of the numerous floggings which for the past several months have terrorized Macon.

TWO FIREMEN ARE KILLED IN CRASH

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, August 21—Two firemen were killed when the roof and one wall of the new Palaza hall, located at Grand and Havemeyer streets, in Brooklyn, crashed during a spectacular fire last night, according to a casualty list compiled by the police today.

Forty seven men, mostly firemen, were injured.

Raymond Farrell and James Sullivan, both members of the same engine company, were killed. Many firemen were caught in the ruins and for hours rescue parties worked frantically in the debris, hampered by intense heat.

The dead were buried beneath debris which crushed them in the collapse which came just as the fire was believed to have been under control.

The hall, a landmark of Williamsburg for half a century, has been the scene of many political battles and at one time had been a Masonic hall.

Lately it has been used for dances and lodge meetings.

Two Men Held In Prohibition Cases

Two alleged violators of the prohibition laws are being held today to await a preliminary hearing.

The still, said to have been the property of these men was destroyed several days ago by federal officers, and at that time an effort was made to arrest the same men who are now in custody.

The still in question, was said by officers at the court house, to have been located on Flint Creek near the Bee Line Highway.

Thirteen Lodges Of The District Will Send Delegates To Meet

The semi-annual district gathering of the blue lodge Masons of this section, held for the purpose of giving instruction in the work and teachings of the organization will open at the Masonic theater Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock and will continue for two days.

The sessions will open each day at 9:30 o'clock, a. m. continue until noon, and sessions will be held also in the afternoon and at night.

Grand Master Julian Spearman of Anniston, is expected to assist in the work of instruction, but most of the teaching will be done by Albert Reece, of Birmingham, a well known Blue Lodge Mason.

Among the local men to take part in the two days session will be Dr. C. C. Davison, pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur, who is on the program for an address.

Three delegates and alternates, making six members in all have been appointed to attend the school of Wednesday and Thursday. There are 13 Blue Lodges in this district as follows: Albany, Decatur, Mt. Zion, Trinity, Athens, Elkmont, North Border, Hartselle, Falkville, Eva, Somerville, Danville and Austinville.

REVIVAL WORKERS ARE IN TWIN CITIES

Earle S. Rogers, advance agent of the Ham-Ramsay revival meeting and private Secretary of Rev. Ham was due to arrive here today, Tuesday, and complete arrangements for the opening of the big tent revival meeting Sunday night.

Mr. Baumgartel, of the Ham-Ramsay revival team, is already here and is busy with details for spreading the tent on the lot just south of the Lutheran church in Albany.

The singers for the coming meeting have been selected by B. B. Pickens, chairman of the music committee and they are expected to meet with Mr. Rogers at an early date for a conference, and a rehearsal prior to their first appearance Sunday night.

Messrs. Ham and Ramsay are expected the latter part of this week in time for a few conferences with members of the pastor's union of the Twin Cities before the formal opening of the revival.

Man Who Tried To Rob Bank Is Shot

(By Associated Press)

FLORENCE, Ala., August 21—Will Douglass, who unsuccessfully attempted to rob the First National Bank of Russellville last Saturday afternoon and after failing in his attempt, shot himself, was reported this morning to be resting well with a better chance of recovering than the doctors first gave him. A portion of his skull was removed Saturday night, but he rallied quickly from the operation and was conscious today at intervals.

A deputy sheriff of Franklin County accompanied Douglass here and it is understood he has a warrant on a charge of attempted robbery.

Coolidge Adopts
'Rule Of Reason'

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, August 21—President Coolidge told white house visitors today that he had decided to adopt a "reasonable" attitude in the matter of clemency for war law violators and that he recognized the fact that some of those in prison were only receiving just punishment for the crimes of which they were convicted.

COTTON PESTS ARE NOW ON DEFENSIVE

Farmers, However, Are Urged To Keep Much

NEW HATCHING IN NEXT FEW DAYS

Reports From Neighbor
Counties Say Damage
From Pests Past

The warfare on the leaf worm is destruction to the boll weevil as well as to the worm, is the consensus of opinion among farmers and business men of the Tennessee Valley and the word going forth now is to keep plenty of calcium arsenate handy, and use it right along as the way opens and opportunity offers.

It is pointed out by farmers who have been in the fight that in a few days a new hatching of leaf moths is expected, and that for some time yet danger exists from that pest.

It is stated also, that in this and adjoining counties, the leaf worm has been put on the defensive and probably definitely checked. Some of the more optimistic warriors against the present cotton pests claim they have been defeated.

From Cullman County, comes the report that the leaf worm menace has passed away, and similar reports are coming in from Limestone and Madison counties. W. A. Thompson, of Decatur, stated this morning that he had recently visited extensively in Limestone and Madison counties, and that the reputable farmers were claiming that their cotton now is safe from all pests, for the present time at least.

In this county, Lawrence Norton and other farmers say that while the cotton pests are being controlled, that the work has been at such a cost, that no chances should be taken, and that plenty of calcium arsenate should be used for a few weeks longer.

It is estimated that $32,000 have been spent in Morgan county alone for the extermination of the leaf worm.

Bonus Is Paid For
Alabama Coal Land

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, August 21—A cash bonus of $85,000, one of the largest ever received by the government in disposal of public mineral lands, was included in the proposal of the successful bidder for the lease of coal lands in Fayette County, Ala., recently sold at Montgomery. The government will receive a royalty of ten cents a ton for operations on the tract which comprises 1,840 acres with 7,000,000 tons of high grade bituminous in sight.

Prominent Layman Says That Lasting
Peace Will Come Only Through Christ

W. R. Spight, well known layman addressed the members of the Central Baptist church Sunday morning at the request of Dr. Reeves, the pastor, who is absent from the city. Mr. Spight read from the 19th chapter of Revelation, a battle scene at the end of this age; also from the 11th chapter of Isaiah the peace scene that follows the battle.

The speaker said that as a layman he would escape the usual criticism for speaking from the pulpit on what is commonly known as political subjects. "We don't want politics in religion, but we need religion in politics," said Mr. Spight as he discussed "The Bible in National and International Government."

"The dispensation of innocence ended in man's expulsion from the Garden, as the Dispensation under Conscience ended in the Flood. After the flood, human government was established in the world—the government of man by man. Under this dispensation all the race, both Jew and Gentile were 'under bonds' to govern the world for God. The responsibility of the Jews as a race ended in the captivity. Since then they have been without a government or a country. The responsibility of the Gentiles still exists. Therefore they should learn from the study of the Bible how to apply to world government the principles taught therein. The application of these teachings as pointed out recently by President Woodrow Wilson is

LEGISLATURE FACES
VERY ACTIVE WEEK

(Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 21—The sounding of the gavel in the two houses of the Alabama legislature this afternoon at 2 o'clock will mark the opening of what is expected to be another momentous week for the state assembly.

In the lower house, the Mobile port bill is a special order of the day and the measure is expected to be given considerable discussion before a vote is called. Introduced by Representative Holcombe of Mobile, the measure provides for the state lending its credit to the amount of $10,000,000 for the port improvement.

Just what will be the order of the day in the senate is yet doubtful, members say. Bills of lesser importance, however, are expected to face the upper house.

A report is expected during the next few days from the house committee on temperance, which has the Solie blue bill before them, providing for the closing of Sunday baseball and movies. Doubt is expressed among house members as to the measure receiving a favorable report, a member of the committee declaring that he was opposed to a favorable report of the bill in the house, terming it as a "waste of time" to consider the measure after its defeat in the senate twice.

Three legislative days are expected to be removed from the calendar this week, reducing the total before them to twelve legislative days. Many of the members continue to urge that the session be moved faster, hope being expressed that the finish may be brought about by mid-September.

the only thing that can save the world from revolution.

"In discussing peace" the speaker said that "permanent peace during this age was an idealistic dream. All wars in the last analysis have a racial base. Hatred, jealousy, envy, greed, spring full-armed from the races of men. Cain killed his brother Able, and that was war's beginning, its ending will come with the second Adam and a restored Garden of Eden.

"There can be no continuing peace thru man's efforts, so long as sin predominates, so long as Satan is prince of this world. All scripture declares this truth. The Hebrew prophets foretold it. Joel sees during this age, 'Plowshares beaten into swords, pruning hooks into spears.' Daniel saw continuing warfare among the nations until the 'Smiting Stone' destroyed the armies of the anti-Christ. Jesus, Himself, confirms this prophetic view in his Olivett discourse. 'There shall be wars and rumors of war; nations shall rise against nations, kingdom against kingdom.' The history of mankind confirms it. There has not been in the recorded annals of time an hundred years of continuous peace. In less than 150 years of our own national life, we have had six great wars, none of them wars of aggression.

"The Prince of Peace Himself will finally establish lasting peace on the earth of force. At the head of the

Golden Rule Principle
In Business Urged
Upon Kiwanians

Trains and automobiles took many Kiwanis club members from the Twin Cities this morning to attend the Alabama-Florida convention to be held in Huntsville beginning at 10 o'clock this morning. With the local Kiwanians, went many of that organization who had to pass through the Twin Cities on their way to the Madison County capital. Never before has the splendid strategic position of the Twin Cities been more in evidence than at the opening of the Kiwanis convention at Huntsville.

Never before last night did railroad trains and automobiles bring a finer company of people by the Twin Cities than those who stopped over on their way to Huntsville. And some of the most delightful of the convention delegates enjoyed the hospitality of the Morgan Kiwanis club at the Lyons hotel last evening at a banquet beginning at 7 o'clock, given in honor of the wives and sweethearts of local Kiwanians and their convention guest delegates.

At the Lyons dining room last night when fully 150 Kiwanians and their guests sat down to dinner the scene has rarely been equaled locally.

One of the most acceptable speakers at the banquet was Henry C. Heinz of Atlanta than whom there can be no more modest man despite the fact he hails from Atlanta. Mr. Heinz is the first vice president of the International civic organization, second to none. He spoke like a veteran civic leader and like all careful boosters of organizations warned in the beginning that "the strength of the order depends on its personnel."

Before he began his speech, Mr. Heinz, said that but for his old school mate J. R. Daniell, he would have been in Huntsville 15 hours earlier but that the memory of old associations with "Bob" Daniell were so strong that he put off his engagement at Huntsville, to accept his hospitality, and that of the local Kiwanis club. Mr. Heinz said Mr. Daniell used to play the piano at Sunday school, just before he, the speaker, would lead in prayer.

Five objectives were pointed out for all Kiwanis club members by Mr. Heinz—attention to underprivileged children, application of the "Golden Rule" in business relations, service, co-operation, and fellowship.

The speaker declared that if Kiwanians had no purpose but "to meet and eat" they had as well disband. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the showing as to members at the meeting of last night and declared "You know we like to brag in Atlanta, but we cannot boast of as good average membership meetings as you are having."

It goes without saying that Jules Brazil, the Canadian entertainer, was the chief attraction at the banquet last night. The wonder grew as the wonderful man proceeded how he did it all. He knew every body, although a stranger, where they sat, and many facts about the business and characteristics of his hearers, and told many good things concerning many of his delighted hearers. Almost every song that has been popular for a generation past was sung in part by the entertainer and he made his audience sing with him.

Much of the entertainment of Mr. Brazil was entirely impromptu. For instance when he noticed the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bush with his parents, Mr. Brazil exclaimed "Ah I am delighted to see you have your little 'sprig' with you." But throughout all his round of "personalities" Mr. Brazil failed to embarrass any one of the large company. The serious vein of the man was seen in his French Canadian story in which an old grand father was represented as talking love to his five year old grandson. Also the man's serious nature appeared in his characterization of men at 20, at 40 and at 70 years of age. As funny a thing as Mr. Brazil got off to those who delight in reference to the "boozie" question, was his recitation of the old nursery rhyme used to designate the

"NOT A QUESTION OF ENTANGLING ALLIANCES, BUT ONE OF HONOR."

Thus does Senator Underwood, Alabama's candidate for the Presidency of the United States, send a clarion call to his countrymen to do something, perhaps the best course is not yet clearly defined, but for the sake of humanity, to do something about the situation existing in Europe today. Senator Underwood spoke Monday before the convention of the Mississippi department of the American Legion, declaring the American soldiers, who "astounded the world" with their valor had fought in vain unless America aids Europe in reaching a solution of the perplexing post war problems.

In many respects Senator Underwood's Mississippi address was similar to the one he delivered before a Twin City audience. He takes the position it is no more fair for a country to enter a partnership for the execution of an enterprise, and then desert the undertaking before it is accomplished, than it would be for an individual.

Never given to the verbal pyrotechnics which are the stock in trade of so many seekers after political honors, Senator Underwood in his messages to the country is pointing the way for America to redeem herself before the eyes of the world and to regain, in part, that high prestige we held during the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

Each day press reports indicate that Senator Underwood's following is gaining in strength and in numbers. Alabamians naturally find great satisfaction in the friendly references newspapers and periodicals from without the state are making to the Underwood candidacy. Alabamians feel that at last the South offers to the nation a candidate who measures up fully to the standards of the older school of statecraft, when presidential timber was sorted and chosen for quality, rather than for expediency.

The Daily feels Senator Underwood is qualified in every way for the highest office within the people's gift. It joins with other newspapers of the state in recommending to the nation a man, of whom it may be said in advance, that win or lose, he will reflect nothing but credit upon himself and his state.

FIVE-POWER TREATY A FACT.

Final deposit of the official ratifications of the five-power and other Washington conference treaties has been made with the state department, and the naval agreement is now affirmed as the formal decision of the five chief maritime nations, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy. There will be very little change in present naval programs as result of this ratification, for most nations concerned, assured of the final assent of all signatories, have been laying their plans in conformity with the treaty ever since the conference. The agreement really permits France and Italy to construct more warships than they have contemplated, or will probably authorize.

Among the important by-products of the conference is the breaking up of the Anglo-Japanese alliance which many experts in military affairs have regarded as containing the seeds of a war in the Pacific. Now that both Japan and Great Britain have yielded their mutual agreement in deference to the wider circle of powers concerned, there is a lifting of the suspicion that formerly lowered, and the Pacific is really serene, as far as diplomatic entanglements are concerned. The great value of the Washington conference is the establishment of the precedent of agreement on such matters as nations hitherto have jealously regarded as strictly their own affair. The tragic lessons of the war and the economic burden imposed upon peoples by the race for naval supremacy acy have combined to wipe away former intolerance in this regard. It is only a step that has been taken, but some day there may dawn that period of disarmament and permanent peace by agreement which a few years ago was regarded as purely visionary and incapable of realization.—Age-Herald.

NEIGHBORING CITY

LOS' A GOOD MAN.

Announcements from Gadsden of the death of Amos E. Goodhue, wealthy attorney and business man of that city, state that Mr. Goodhue was "recognized as one of the most useful citizens of the Gadsden district."

The deceased was not widely known here, but what was known of Mr. Goodhue in this section was of a most favorable character. One speech he made here some years ago created a deep impression upon the thoughtful people of the community. It was at the time of the state wide campaign for and against the continuance of the saloon. Mr. Goodhue espoused the cause of the prohibitionists and advocated total abstinence on the part of the individual and strict enforcement of strict prohibition laws on the part of the state against the liquor traffic.

The attorney gave all the stock arguments in favor of the destruction of the liquor business in a most impressive manner. But the manner or attitude of the man toward his audience made the deepest impression. The way Mr. Goodhue handled his audience made it easy for his hearers to believe he was a successful and able advocate. Mr. Goodhue had nothing of the antagonistic attitude about him as a prohibition orator. He went out of his way to advise that the supporters of prohibition should not be dictatorial or abusive. He said that what the prohibitionists needed was to gain friends and supporters for their cause, that harsh means would accomplish little. In connection with his counseling, good humor and fairness as the proper way to win others, Mr. Goodhue said that when a small boy, he learned from the means used by his mother in catching house flies, never to be sour or unbending. He said he noticed that his mother used sweet things and not vinegar when attempting to catch the house flies, and that she used generous supplies of the sweetest molasses she could find for the fly traps and that he noticed large numbers of the pests were caught.

Mr. Goodhue spoke in the Central Methodist church and was introduced by the late lamented Captain Samuel Blackwell as a man "who stood four square to every wind that blows."

The Gadsden account of Mr. Goodhue said that "representatives of nearly every family in Gadsden gathered to pay their last respects" to him. From all accounts the deceased lawyer was one of the rich men upon whom no condemnation falls.

THE ENTENTE PERSISTS.

Although the British-French entente has been severely strained at times, and there have been prophecies of an open break, yet always there is found a way out, and the friendship continues unbroken. Many have been the predictions of a rupture over the Ruhr occupation, the British claiming an interruption of commerce and demanding arbitration, and the French resolutely clinging to their policy of occupation and refusing to leave anything to German faith. A recent British note made it appear that unless France yielded on the subject of reference to an "impartial commission" on reparations, that nation would have to proceed without further consultation with France. France rejected the plan of an impartial commission, holding that the commission established by the treaty of Versailles should not be displaced. It appears that legally France has the better of it.

England's initial complaint was that France's course was not only reducing the reparations payments, but was causing a British trade loss, but Premier Poincare retorts that British exportations have increased thirteen per cent since the beginning of the occupation, a point which the British perhaps overlooked. Now that England's apprehension regarding her commercial status are allayed, it is very likely that she will continue a more or less passive spectator, unless France agrees to some sort of policy which will lead to further negotiations with the Germans. Physically, France is in impregnable position.

International business interests are beginning to grow restive over the Ruhr deadlock, and it is likely that some pressure from this source will be brought to bear upon the French, perhaps through the American government. Meanwhile, the Germans have not tested the sincerity of the repeated French statement that the withdrawal will begin as soon as faithful payment of reparations is resumed.—Age-Herald.

Devoutly do I pray for his return.

I fain would follow but I must needs stay.

Meantime his fate doth cause much grave concern.

He was my friend, he took my hand and said,

That he'd be back in just a little while;

Then out he walked with firm and stately tread,

I watched him go and tried to force a smile.

Now his return I'm fondly waiting for,

I'll count each minute till he doth arrive,

Don't get the notion that he's gone afar—

I sent him 'cross the street to change a five.

ALL WORN OUT

Does morning find you with a lame, stiff, and aching back? Are you tired all the time—find work a burden? Have you suspected your kidneys? Albany people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. You can rely on their statements.

Mrs. L. A. Vernon, 402 Fourth Ave., W., Albany, says: "I can highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills from experience I felt as when I had gone to bed and I was weak and aching all through my back. Just a little housework tired me completely and at times, I became so dizzy, I staggered and had to sit down until the spell passed. My kidneys acted sluggishly and I went to the Preuit-Dillehay Drug Co. and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's cured me of all the suffering and I have had no recurrence of the trouble."

PRINCESS TODAY

Harold Lloyd has again proven that he is the most consistent funmaker on the screen by his latest Pathé five-reel comedy, "Dr. Jack" which is seen today at the Princess theater. There are comedians who make exceedingly funny pictures, but Lloyd is the most consistent and dependable of the Sons of Laughter. "Grandma's Boy" seemed to us to be the perfect comedy—until we saw "Dr. Jack."

Harold Lloyd is seen in the title role, that of a young doctor who cures the ill by the "sunshine method." The fast and furious Lloydian comedy is interwoven with a charming love story.

and here the comedian fairly outshines all the great lovers of the screen. It's a great comedy and you really can't afford to miss it. Advt.

RATES REDUCED

Reduced fare on the certificate plan to the American Legion Convention at Mobile is announced by Miss An. Lewis, ticket agent, L. & N., Albany, and it is expected that a good many will attend from the Twin Cities. Also a rate of one fare for the round trip is announced for the national convention to be held in San Francisco in October. For further information call Mr. Andrews at Albany 5.

More Summer Dairy Profits

The dairymen who are making profits are feeding the cows on pasture. When they once stop to figure the actual results of grass only they find their cows don't milk so long, and it requires more feed in the winter to bring back milk production.

Dairymen everywhere are cutting the cost per gallon of milk production by feeding a little Cow Chow as a concentrate.

Cow Chow provides just the right proteins and minerals to balance grass. Cow Chow puts the proof of more summer profits right in the milk pail. Start a test today and prove it with your own cows.

COTTON AND CORN
PAISED BY VISITOR
"The cotton and the corn I have seen here is the best I have seen" said A. D. Campbell, of Racine, Wis., formerly immigration commissioner of the Badger state, who is investigating conditions throughout the south and especially in the Tennessee Valley. Mr. Campbell is just from the Florida Everglades section.
"I had not seen any 'good cotton' until I reached the Tennessee Valley." "What you need most here" declared Mr. Campbell, "are dependable roads and up to date dairymen. At this time Wisconsin has more dairy cows than any state in the union, over 2,000,000, and I think the Tennessee Valley people ought to invest largely in dairy cows."
"Clover pastures, alfalfa meadows, silos for the preservation of feed and pure bred stock should be the aim and slogan of Tennessee Valley farmers."
"In a few years time we raised the alfalfa acreage in my state from 3,500 to over 250,000 and we now have about 400,000 acres in alfalfa. Silos have increased at a vast rate. Nearly every farm has from one to three silos."
"The water power developments sure to take place on the Tennessee River at Muscle Shoals will lead to the building of great centres of population. This immediate locality, as to my mind an ideal place to build a great city, and I look for a great increase in population."
Mr. Campbell declared that he had traveled much and that the Tennessee Valley was one of the most desirable locations he had ever visited.

Cotton Crop Again Threatened
By J. C. FORD, County Agent

The recent outbreak of cotton leaf worms has practically run its course. The worms have either been killed or have grown out to full size and webbed up to transform into moths or "candle flies."
This transformation requires from seven to nine days from the time the worms web up till the moths emerge ready to fly. Within a few days they begin laying eggs on each female lays from four hundred to six hundred. The eggs hatch in two, three or four days and the destruction begins again. For the first few days these worms are very small and feed on the under side of the leaf, where they will not be noticed unless one looks very carefully for them.
No one knows exactly what will happen. There is possibly one chance in a hundred that so many of those worms will be destroyed before the moths emerge that the next "crop" of worms will not be serious, but there are ninety-nine chances in a hundred that, about the first of September, or before, most of the cotton fields of Morgan county will be infested with armies of worms sufficient to destroy all leaves, squares and immature bolls within a few days.
Do not persuade yourself that there is no further danger, and do not let any one make you believe that your cotton will not be seriously injured by being stripped early in September. A heavy killing frost at that time would not do it any more harm. Most of the cotton in Morgan County is late and loaded with immature fruit.
With a good stand, one boll per stalk means about one hundred pounds of seed cotton to the acre. By poisoning the next "crop" of worms, you will probably save several bolls per stalk or several hundred pounds of seed cotton to each acre poisoned.
It is the part of wisdom to get poison enough now, while there is no rush, to treat your entire crop. The chances are that within a few days there will be a rush for cotton poison such as this country has never seen, and many who wait till then will be unable to supply their needs in time.
Cause for Gladness.
God be thanked, that there are some in the world to whose hearts the bar-an-cies will not cling.—J. G. Holland.

IMPORT COMPANY'S OFFICES ARE RAIDED

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, August 21—Federal secret agents today raided the quarters of the "Consolidated Importing and Exporting company" on Lexington avenue and arrested five men and a woman on charges of counterfeiting revenue stamps, whiskey labels and physicians liquor prescriptions blanks.
Besides samples of the stamps, labels and blanks, agents reported they confiscated several stills, 100 gallons of alcohol and a dozen cases of whiskey.
Besides being headquarters of the Consolidated Importing and Exporting company, the raided building housed the Montreal Bottlers Association and was publishing headquarters for the Fold, a matrimonial paper. The matrimonial paper, according to Joseph Palma, secret service chief in the New York district, served primarily as a "blind" for the alleged illicit dealing in liquor, counterfeit stamps and other accessories.

number of days in each of the 12 months of the year. Mr. Brazil said it this way: "Thirty days hath September, April, June and November; all the rest are 'thirty' too unless you make your own 'home-brew'."

The banquet was spread upon two long tables running the entire length of the big dining room, and the space between these tables was filled with other diners. E. F. Baird, president of the Morgan Kiwanis Club presided and Marvin Rankin did yeoman service as the chorus leader. "God Save the King" to the tune of "America" was sung in honor of the presence of Mr. Brazil.

"America" as the opening song followed the invocation by Dr. James D. Wallace. The other songs as led by Mr. Rankin, with J. R. Daniell at the piano were: "Peggy O'Neil," "Polly-Wolly-Doodle," "Come All Good Fellows" and "Dixie."

Prominent Layman Says Lasting Peace Only Through Christ

armies of heaven. He will fight earth's last great battle, a battle between the Jews and the ten nations under the anti-Christ. Righteousness arrayed against the forces of evil.

"Temporary peace may be attained by the use of force. A superior force ends war, the fear of a superior force prevents war. Physical and financial exhaustion is the resultant of force long continued. That is the condition of the nations of Europe today, bankrupt in finances, weakened in manpower. To prolong this temporary peace," said the speaker, "The map of Europe should be reconstructed on racial lines. God made of one blood all nations of the earth, but He set bounds to their habitation."

"Jesus said 'Think not that I am come to the world to send Peace. I came not to send peace, but a sword.' Jesus, foreseeing the coming conflicts in His last instructions to His disciples in the very shadow of the Cross, said 'Take both scrip and purse, and if you have no sword, sell your cloak and buy one.' The disciples answered here: 'Lord we have two swords.' This is the authority of Jesus for preparedness. The city has its police force, the state its militia, the government its army and navy. Let the English speaking races," said the speaker, "prepare against war, so that their combined naval and air strength shall be the dominating influence and deciding force of the world, warning all nations of the world that wars of aggression will not be tolerated. A friendly understanding inspired by the instincts of self-preservation and the desire to preserve peace among the nations.

"Send the Gospel of the Son of God to all nations, spreading the Gospel of Love, condemning the Gospel of Hate. This is our task," said the speaker.

"In the wild tempestuous sea of unrest, of hate, of revolution that threatens to engulf the world, let us throw out the life lines, launch the life boats of God's Eternal Truth."
